

Cluster Strategic Planning in November

Business and institutional leaders in seven key industry clusters in our 12-county Southeast Colorado region will gather for Round 3 cluster workgroups the week of November 5th to address shared competitiveness challenges.

Businesses, suppliers, and economic input providers (such as colleges and universities, banks, utilities, and other agencies) are invited to attend the cluster workgroup in which they fit best: Advanced Manufacturing and Fabricated Metals; Aerospace, Microelectronics and Defense; Biotechnology and Bio-medical Devices; Experience and Tourism; Information and Communications Solutions; Next-Generation Agriculture and Renewable Energy; and Professional Business and Social Services (including Finance, Insurance and Customer Service).

The cluster workgroups will work on strategic plans to implement the agreed-upon priority actions that will enable growth, expansion, and attraction of the clusters in the Southeast Colorado region.

Your voice is important. This initiative is not about creating reports, but about working together to create real, tangible solutions that will strengthen our industry clusters and sustain a high-performing regional economy.
