

Relocate America's Top 25 Places to Live to go to School in 2007

Welcome to Relocate America's Top 25 Places to Live to go to School in 2007! We're excited to recognize 25 great communities from across the nation that offer families a great place to live considering the quality of schools and having choices in educational offerings for children.

Our list recognizes communities with strong support and spirit for their local schools, high parental involvement, strong academic achievement and performance, caring faculty and staff and successful extracurricular programs with opportunities for children to explore and excel in many areas of interest. We recognize a variety of school types, including public schools, private programs, Christian-based and specialized/vocational educational opportunities.

In order to make the list, these communities were first nominated by their own residents, parents, students and teachers based on the community's benefits and educational offerings. Nominations were then compared with statistical data by the Relocate America's editorial team to conclude the Top 25 based on the compelling reasons that makes the community "a stand out for schools." This is the only list that is determined by statistics and feedback of the people who live & go to school in these communities. We're proud to present our Top 25 Places to Live to go to School in 2007 and we hope that you enjoy learning about these communities.
